

@pathtorichnesss

Content Posts — All In One

Personal Growth • APL Promos • Win Posts

Personal Growth Threads Posts — @pathtorichnesss

SHORT POST #1 — What Broke Taught Me

Growing up broke didn't break me.

It taught me that comfort is a trap, pressure is a teacher, and nobody's coming to save you.

That's the real education.

SHORT POST #2 — The Version Nobody Clapped For

Nobody was rooting for the version of me that was still figuring it out.

And that's okay.

That version didn't need applause. He needed work.

SHORT POST #3 — Money Used to Feel Like Shame

I used to be embarrassed by my bank account.

Now I use it as fuel.

The relationship you have with money changes everything — the moment you stop being afraid of it.

SHORT POST #4 — I Used to Check My Account and Pray

I used to open my bank app and hold my breath.

Not anymore.

That anxiety was the turning point I didn't recognize until years later.

SHORT POST #5 — The Path Is the Point

@pathtorichnesss isn't a destination.

It's a direction.

Every day you move toward who you're supposed to be — that's the path. That's where it starts.

LONG POST #1 — Where I Actually Came From

I need to tell you where I actually came from.

Not the highlight reel. The real thing.

Growing up, money was stress. Not "I can't buy the new sneakers" stress. Real stress. The kind where you hear your parents arguing about a bill in the next room. Where you eat what's there, not what you want. Where you learn not to ask for things because you already know the answer.

I watched people around me normalize that. Like this was just how life goes.

I refused.

Not because I had a plan. I didn't. Not because I was confident. I wasn't.

I just knew I couldn't keep living like money was the enemy. Like being broke was my identity.

That's where @pathtorichnesss started. Not when I made my first dollar in sales. Way before that — in the silence of knowing I needed a completely different life.

If you come from that place, this page is for you.

LONG POST #2 — The Turning Point

There was a specific moment when everything shifted.

I wasn't on top of the world. I wasn't celebrating. I was sitting with myself, exhausted. The kind of exhausted that isn't about sleep.

Tired of being the person with potential who wasn't doing anything with it. Tired of watching time pass. Tired of telling myself "next month" or "when things calm down."

Things don't just calm down. You have to calm them down.

That night I made a decision. Not a loud one. No announcement, no post, no accountability partner.

Just me — deciding that the person I was being wasn't the person I was capable of being.

Most people have that moment and go back to sleep.

I didn't.

That's the only difference between where I was and where I'm going.

LONG POST #3 — What Financial Freedom Actually Looks Like

I used to think financial freedom meant Lambos, watches, and flying first class.

That's what they sell you.

Here's what it actually looks like for me:

Waking up and not immediately thinking about money. Going to the grocery store without doing math in my head. Picking up the tab for someone I love without checking my account first. Not dreading the first of the month.

It's peace. That's it.

The money isn't the real goal. The peace is the goal.

I'm still building. I'm nowhere near a finish line. But I can feel the difference between where I am and where I was — and that difference is what keeps me going every single day.

If you're grinding right now, don't grind for the flex. Grind for the morning where you wake up calm.

That's the real rich.

LONG POST #4 — The Lonely Season

Nobody talks about how lonely the come-up actually is.

Your friends are going out. You're staying in. They're posting the weekend. You're studying, working, building something nobody can see yet.

And you can't even explain it to them because it just sounds like excuses for why you're not showing up.

There's a season where you have to choose between the life everyone else is living and the life you're trying to build.

That choice is lonelier than it sounds on paper.

No one claps for you in that season. No one sees it. You don't even have proof yet that it's working. You're just betting on yourself with no guarantee.

I lived in that season for longer than I want to admit.

But I'm glad I stayed. Because that's where character gets built. That's where most people fold and go back to comfortable.

If you're in that season right now — this is me telling you to keep going. The proof is coming. Stay in the room.

LONG POST #5 — Who I'm Becoming

I want to be honest with you about something.

I'm not a finished product. I'm not standing at the top looking down telling you how I made it.

I'm in it. Right now. Still growing. Still learning. Still having days where I doubt myself more than I probably should.

But I'm becoming someone I'm proud of.

And I never thought I'd be able to say that.

I grew up thinking the version of me I actually wanted to be was for other people. People with better starts. Better opportunities. Better zip codes.

Turns out the only thing standing between who I was and who I'm becoming was a decision — repeated every single day.

Follow me at @pathtorichnesss. Not for the destination, but for the journey.

I'm going to document all of it. The wins, the setbacks, the lessons, the days it doesn't feel like it's working.

You're not watching someone who made it.

You're watching someone making it.

That's the whole point.

Personal Growth Threads Posts — @pathtorichnesss (Part 2)

10 short / 10 long. Copy-paste ready.

SHORT POST #1 — Comparison Almost Killed Me

Comparing my chapter 1 to someone else's chapter 10 almost made me quit.

Almost.

Stay in your lane. Your timeline is not their timeline.

SHORT POST #2 — I Stopped Telling People My Goals

The moment I stopped announcing what I was going to do and just started doing it — everything changed.

Silence is a strategy.

SHORT POST #3 — Hungry Different

Being "hungry" hits different when you've actually been hungry.

Not metaphorically. Actually.

That's a kind of motivation you can't teach.

SHORT POST #4 — Nobody Gave Me a Blueprint

Nobody sat me down and explained how money works.

How investing works. How to build something.

I had to find it myself. And I did.

So can you.

SHORT POST #5 — The Best Investment

Before I had money to invest —

I invested in my mind.

That's still the highest ROI I've ever seen.

SHORT POST #6 — I'm Not Chasing Clout

I'm not building this for likes.

I'm building it for the version of my family that doesn't have to worry anymore.

That's the whole motivation.

SHORT POST #7 — My Old Self Wouldn't Recognize Me

The person I was 3 years ago would not recognize who I'm becoming.

That's not a flex.

That's proof that change is real if you want it bad enough.

SHORT POST #8 — You Don't Need Permission

You're waiting on someone to tell you that you're ready.

Nobody's coming.

Start anyway.

SHORT POST #9 — Broke Mindset Is the Real Prison

You can be broke in your bank account and still get out.

But if you're broke in your mind — that's the real trap.

Work on the mind first. Everything else follows.

SHORT POST #10 — Peace Over Everything

I don't want to be rich and miserable.

I've seen that. It's not the goal.

I want money AND peace. Both. At the same time. That's the standard.

LONG POST #1 — The Day I Stopped Making Excuses

I had every excuse in the world.

Wrong environment. No connections. No one in my family had ever built anything. The odds weren't in my favor.

And every single one of those excuses was true.

They were also irrelevant.

Because at the end of the day, excuses don't pay bills. Excuses don't build futures. Excuses keep you comfortable in a situation that should be making you uncomfortable.

The day I stopped collecting reasons why it was hard and started moving anyway — that was the real starting line.

Not when I got my first win. Not when I made my first real money. When I stopped explaining why I wasn't where I wanted to be and just started going.

Your excuses are valid. They're also the thing holding you back. Both things are true.

LONG POST #2 — What Sales Actually Taught Me About Myself

People follow me for sales content. And I'll keep delivering that.

But here's what sales really taught me — and it has nothing to do with closing.

It taught me I could handle rejection without breaking. That no is just a redirect, not a verdict on my worth. That confidence isn't something you're born with — it's something you build rep by rep, call by call, conversation by conversation.

Before sales, I flinched when people said no. I took it personally. I'd shrink.

Now? No rolls off me. Not because I don't care — because I know my value doesn't change based on someone else's decision.

That's the lesson. And it transferred to every area of my life.

If you learn sales, you're not just learning how to sell. You're learning how to be unbreakable.

LONG POST #3 — The Generation Stops With Me

I watched my parents work themselves to the bone.

Not complaining. Not bitter about it. They did what they had to do. They sacrificed more than I'll ever fully understand.

But I decided a long time ago that whatever cycle existed before me — it ends with me.

Not because I'm special. Not because I have something they didn't.

Because I have access to information they never had. Opportunities they never had. And I owe it to everything they sacrificed to not waste that.

I'm not just building for myself. I'm building so the generation after me starts ahead.

That's the weight I carry. And I carry it willingly.

If you come from a family that was always just getting by — this one's for you. We're rewriting it.

LONG POST #4 — Imposter Syndrome Hits When You Start Winning

Nobody warned me about this.

You work and grind and sacrifice — and then something actually works. You get a win. Things start moving.

And instead of feeling proud, you feel like a fraud.

Like it happened by accident. Like someone's about to figure out you don't belong here. Like any moment it could all disappear.

That's imposter syndrome. And it's worse when you come from nothing, because some part of you still believes you're not supposed to have this.

I had to actively fight that voice. Remind myself that the wins were earned, not given. That I belong in the rooms I've worked to get into.

You will too.

When you start winning, don't let your mind talk you out of it. You built this. Own it.

LONG POST #5 — What I Had to Unlearn About Money

Growing up broke, I absorbed beliefs about money I didn't even know I had.

That money is hard to get. That wanting more is greedy. That rich people are lucky or corrupt. That people like us just don't build wealth.

None of that is true. But it was in my head, quietly running the background.

The real work wasn't making money. It was unlearning everything that made me feel like I wasn't supposed to have it.

Money is a tool. It amplifies who you already are. It gives you options. It creates peace. There is nothing wrong with wanting more of it.

The moment I stopped feeling guilty for wanting financial freedom was the moment I actually started building it.

Check your beliefs. Not your strategy. Your beliefs.

LONG POST #6 — Outgrowing People Who Knew the Old You

This is the part nobody wants to talk about.

When you start growing, not everyone grows with you. And some of the people who knew the old version of you — the broke, stuck, surviving version — don't know what to do with the new one.

Sometimes it's subtle. They get quiet when you talk about what you're building. They make jokes about you "thinking you're better." They pull you back to old conversations, old habits, old energy.

It's not always malicious. But it is real.

I had to accept that not everyone is supposed to come with me on this journey. That love for someone doesn't mean they're the right company for where you're going.

Some people are for a season. Let them be that.

Protect your growth like it's the most valuable thing you have. Because it is.

LONG POST #7 — On the Other Side of Fear

Every major thing I've done that changed my life started with being afraid.

Taking the first sales call. Posting publicly. Believing I could actually build something. Investing when I barely had enough to invest.

All of it was terrifying.

And I did it anyway.

Not because I had courage. I didn't always. I did it because staying still was scarier than moving forward.

The fear doesn't go away. You just get better at moving through it.

The version of you that you actually want to become exists on the other side of the thing that's scaring you right now.

Not after the fear disappears. Through it.

What's the thing you've been avoiding? That's usually the next step.

LONG POST #8 — What I Gave Up (And Whether It Was Worth It)

People see the journey and ask what it took.

So let me be honest.

I gave up weekends. I gave up being present at things I should have been present for. I gave up the comfort of not having to try. I gave up the safety of a predictable, average life.

There were nights I questioned if it was worth it. Genuinely.

Not every sacrifice immediately pays off. Sometimes you're grinding and nothing is happening and you wonder if you made the wrong choice.

But I kept a simple question in my head: If nothing changes and I'm still in this same place in 5 years — will that be okay?

The answer was always no.

So I kept going.

Was it worth it? Ask me in 10 years. But right now, from where I'm standing — yes. Without question.

LONG POST #9 — What Nobody Tells You About Leveling Up

They show you the highlights.

They don't show you the identity crisis that comes with actually becoming a different person.

When you level up for real, you have to let go of the old version of yourself. And that old version — as limited as he was — is familiar. Comfortable. Safe.

The new version is uncertain. Unfamiliar. Feels wrong at first.

People don't talk about this. They talk about the tactics. The strategies. The wins.

They don't talk about sitting with yourself and realizing you don't fully know who you are anymore because you've changed so much.

That discomfort is not a sign that something's wrong.

It's the sign that something is actually working.

Grow through it. Don't run from it. The other side of that discomfort is who you've been working to become.

LONG POST #10 — To My Younger Self

I know you're tired.

I know you're looking around and wondering why it feels so much harder for you than it seems to be for everyone else. I know you're keeping it together on the outside while quietly panicking on the inside.

I know you don't have a plan. Not a real one.

But I need you to hear this:

You're going to figure it out. Not because someone saves you — because you decide to save yourself. Because you get tired enough of where you are that you finally start moving toward something better.

The broke days are not your forever. The struggling is not your identity. You are not what your bank account says right now.

Keep going. Keep building. Stay hungry.

The path exists. You just have to walk it.

Follow it at @pathtorichnesss.

Win Post — APL Cash Out (Threads/Instagram)

VERSION 1 — Short & Punchy (Threads)

$51.43.

I know that's not a crazy number. But this notification made me stop everything.

Because I built this. From nothing. Through APL.

Every dollar that hits different when YOU created it.

This is just the beginning. @pathtorichnesss

VERSION 2 — Story-Driven (Recommended for Threads or IG caption)

$51.43 from Stripe hit my phone last night.

And I sat there longer than I probably should have for $51.

But here's the thing — when you come from broke, when you know what it felt like to stress about every dollar, when you remember checking your account hoping and praying...

$51 that YOU built means more than $500 that someone handed you.

This payout is from Pathtorichnesss. Built with APL. Built by me — someone who had no blueprint, no connections, no guarantee it was going to work.

I'm not posting this to flex. I'm posting this because somebody needs to see that the receipts are real.

The path is real. The work is real. The payouts are real.

Follow the journey — @pathtorichnesss. Let me show you how.

VERSION 3 — Hype + Heart (Reels caption or carousel slide)

Stripe said $51.43 and I said thank you.

Not because it's a lot.

Because six months ago I didn't have a Stripe account. I didn't have a product. I didn't have a plan.

Now I've got all three — and APL is the reason why.

This is month ____ of building Pathtorichnesss in public.

The numbers will grow. They always do when the foundation is right.

Watch this space. @pathtorichnesss

APL Promo Posts — In Her Voice

POST 1

ok so i need to talk about APL real quick ■ because i've been sooo quiet about it and i shouldn't be this is literally MY system. the one i use to make my content look the way it does. the one that keeps everything consistent and aesthetic without me spending hours on it ■

AI prompts that actually work FOR your brand. not generic. not robotic. yours.

$37 and there are limited spots for a reason ■■

use code TEN for 10% off

■ <https://shop.beacons.ai/pathtorichnesss/791f8ca2-5b66-49fd-9fe5-6a88ecc525a8>

if you've been waiting this is your sign ■

POST 2

be so fr with me

how long have you been trying to figure out why your content doesn't look consistent ■ it's NOT a you problem. it's a system problem.

APL gives you the AI prompts to fix that. content structure + aesthetic creation so everything you post actually looks like a brand ■

i built this because i needed it. and it works. there's a reason i promote what i promote ■

$37 right now. limited spots ■■

code TEN = 10% off

link in bio ■

POST 3

i've been sooo blessed in this journey and all of you have seen me grow ■ and a big part of that growth was learning how to show up consistently online not just posting. actually building something that looks like a brand people recognize that's what APL taught me to do. and now i'm teaching YOU ■

AI prompts for content structure + aesthetic creation. $37. it is NOT that deep once you have the system ■

limited spots ■■ code TEN = 10% off

■ link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 4

APL works ■

i don't promote things i don't believe in. this is MY system. the one behind everything you see on this page.

if your content feels random, if your aesthetic is all over the place, if you're using AI but it still doesn't sound like you —

APL is literally made for you ■

$37. limited spots ■■ use code TEN for 10% off

■ <https://shop.beacons.ai/pathtorichnesss/791f8ca2-5b66-49fd-9fe5-6a88ecc525a8>

this is your sign. stop waiting ■

POST 5

the brands you love online aren't doing anything you can't do they just have a system and you don't. yet ■

APL is my AI prompt system for content structure + aesthetic creation and it will change the way you show up online forreal ■

i've been sooo intentional about what i put out and THIS is why

$37. not $300. not $100. $37 ■■

code TEN = 10% off. limited spots. don't sleep on it

■ link in bio

POST 6 — pair with Stripe screenshot

Stripe notification at 10pm and i'm sooo grateful ■■

i used to stress about every dollar. now i'm watching them come in because i built something real

APL is a big part of why. learning how to show up consistently, aesthetically, like a brand — that's what brings people back. that's what converts.

i teach you exactly how to do this with AI prompts ■

$37. there is a reason i promote what i promote. it WORKS.

limited spots ■■ code TEN = 10% off

■ <https://shop.beacons.ai/pathtorichnesss/791f8ca2-5b66-49fd-9fe5-6a88ecc525a8>

APL Promo Posts — More (No Stripe)

POST 1

i was literally you ■

scrolling other people's pages like how does their content always look sooo good aesthetic. consistent. on brand. every single post and then i realized they weren't more talented than me. they just had a system i didn't have yet

APL is that system ■ AI prompts for content structure + aesthetic creation

$37. code TEN = 10% off. limited spots ■■

■ link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 2

can i be honest with you ■

using AI for content doesn't automatically make it look good it just makes it faster. and if your prompts are wrong? it's just bad content. faster.

APL teaches you the RIGHT prompts. the ones that actually create content that looks like YOUR brand. consistent. aesthetic. you. ■

$37 ■■ code TEN = 10% off. limited spots

link in bio

POST 3

your content isn't the problem ■

your SYSTEM is the problem or the fact that you don't have one yet

APL fixes that. AI prompts designed to give your content structure and keep your aesthetic consistent so your page finally looks like something people want to follow ■■

$37. limited spots ■■

code TEN = 10% off

■ <https://shop.beacons.ai/pathtorichnesss/791f8ca2-5b66-49fd-9fe5-6a88ecc525a8>

POST 4

the fact that APL is only $37 actually keeps me up at night ■■

like this is the system i use. for MY brand. the one you literally see every day on this page and i'm giving it to you for $37

use code TEN for another 10% off ■■

limited spots. i'm not keeping this open forever

■ link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 5

imagine waking up and actually knowing what to post ■ not guessing. not starting over. not wondering if it matches your vibe just opening APL. getting your prompts. creating content that looks sooo intentional and on brand every single time ■ that's what this does. for $37.

code TEN = 10% off ■■ limited spots

■ link in bio

POST 6

if your page looked exactly how you wanted it to look — what would be different? ■ more followers? more sales? more confidence to actually show up?

APL gets you there. AI prompts that build the structure and aesthetic behind a brand people actually recognize and trust ■

$37. limited spots ■■ code TEN = 10% off

■ <https://shop.beacons.ai/pathtorichnesss/791f8ca2-5b66-49fd-9fe5-6a88ecc525a8>

this is your sign ■

POST 7

i don't talk about APL enough and i really should ■ because this system changed how i show up online forreal no more random posts that don't match. no more spending hours trying to make something look right.

no more wondering why my page doesn't look like a brand yet

AI prompts. content structure. aesthetic creation. $37. ■

code TEN = 10% off ■■ limited spots open right now

link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 8

digital marketing is NOT easy ■

but it is sooo much easier when you have the right tools

APL is one of those tools. my AI prompt system that handles the structure and aesthetic side of your content so you can actually focus on showing up ■

$37. there is a reason i promote what i promote. it works ■

limited spots ■■ code TEN = 10% off

■ link in bio

APL Promo Posts — Bulk Drop

POST 1

for the girl who keeps saying "i'll start posting consistently next week" ■

next week is not coming sis ■

APL gives you the system to actually do it. AI prompts that make your content look aesthetic and on brand so you stop overthinking and start showing up ■

$37. code TEN = 10% off ■■

link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 2

i see you lurking on pages that look sooo put together ■ wondering how they do it. why your content doesn't look like that. what you're missing.

you're not missing talent. you're missing a system ■

APL. $37. that's it. that's the post ■■

code TEN = 10% off. link in bio ■

POST 3

what would you do with a brand that actually looked how you imagined it ■ like genuinely. the aesthetic. the consistency. people recognizing your page immediately.

that's not a dream. that's APL ■

AI prompts for content structure + aesthetic creation. $37 ■■

code TEN = 10% off. limited spots. link in bio ■

POST 4

nobody told me how much easier everything gets when your content has a system behind it ■ less time. less stress. less starting from scratch every single time just consistent. aesthetic. on brand. every post. ■

that's what APL does and i wish i had it sooner forreal

$37 ■■ code TEN = 10% off. limited spots

■ link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 5

APL is $37 ■

not $200. not $500. not some high ticket thing you have to think about for a week

$37 for the AI prompt system i personally use to keep my brand looking consistent and aesthetic every single day ■

code TEN = 10% off ■■

what are you actually waiting for ■ link in bio

POST 6

the version of you that has a brand people actually recognize —

she uses a system ■

she doesn't guess what to post. she doesn't spend hours trying to make things look right. she has APL ■

AI prompts. content structure. aesthetic creation. all in one. $37 ■■

code TEN = 10% off. link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 7

ok real talk ■

i used to post and immediately feel like something was off the content was fine but it just didn't FEEL like my brand. like it didn't belong on my page

that's the problem APL solves. not just what you post but how it all looks and feels together ■■

$37. limited spots ■■ code TEN = 10% off

link in bio ■

POST 8

if you've been using AI for content and it still doesn't look right —

the prompts are the problem ■ generic prompts = generic content. every time.

APL gives you prompts built specifically for brand aesthetic and content structure. so what comes out actually looks like YOU ■

$37 ■■ code TEN = 10% off

■ link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 9

i'm sooo serious when i say APL changed my content ■

i went from posting randomly and hoping something stuck to having a real system behind everything i put out consistent. aesthetic. intentional. ■ and now i'm teaching you how to do the same thing for $37 ■■

code TEN = 10% off. limited spots. link in bio ■

POST 10

here's what APL actually is since i feel like i don't explain it enough ■

it's my AI prompt system that helps you create content that looks like a brand not just pretty posts. a brand. one that's consistent, aesthetic, and actually feels like you every single time ■

you learn the prompts. you build the system. you show up differently ■

$37. code TEN = 10% off ■■ limited spots

■ link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 11

be honest. how many times have you opened a blank page to create content and just... closed it ■ because you didn't know what to say. how it should look. whether it fit your brand.

that's the gap APL fills ■

AI prompts that give you direction, structure, and aesthetic every time you sit down to create

$37 ■■ code TEN = 10% off. link in bio ■

POST 12

your page is the first impression ■ and if it doesn't look consistent people leave before they even give you a chance

APL is how you fix that. not by posting more. by posting with a system that makes everything look intentional ■

$37. limited spots ■■ code TEN = 10% off

link in bio @pathtorichnesss

POST 13

i built APL for the person who is serious about their brand but doesn't have it all figured out yet ■ you don't need to be an expert. you don't need a team. you don't need hours of free time.

you need the right prompts and a system that works ■

that's it. that's APL. $37 ■■

code TEN = 10% off. link in bio ■

POST 14

the difference between brands that grow and brands that stay stuck —

is consistency ■

not luck. not a big following. not viral moments.

showing up consistently with content that looks and feels the same every time. that's what builds trust. that's what builds an audience ■

APL is how you do that without burning out

$37 ■■ code TEN = 10% off. limited spots

link in bio @pathtorichnesss ■

POST 15

ok i need someone to buy APL today and come back and tell me what happened ■■ because the people who actually use it get it. like immediately.

the prompts work. the system works. your content starts looking different. your brand starts feeling real.

$37. code TEN = 10% off ■■

■ link in bio. go get it ■